

Chair Grand Rounds

Monday, April 14th, 2025 | 12:00PM-1:00PM

Faculty, Residents & Fellows are invited to attend via Zoom.

Library supports for knowledge syntheses: services and resources to improve the quality and efficiency of your review projects.

Elena Springall

Elena Springall is a Liaison & Education Librarian at the Gerstein Science Information Centre, University of Toronto Libraries. Elena liaises primarily with Post-Graduate Medical Education. She has a BSc (Zoology) from the University of Guelph and a Masters of Library & Information Science from the University of Western Ontario. She has worked at Gerstein since late 2005 in a variety of roles. Her research interests have included Blended Learning, clinical information resources, and most recently emotional labour in library work.

Learning objectives

By the end of the session, attendees will be able to:

1. Identify the stages in knowledge syntheses where the library can provide assistance.
2. Describe the different models of support available for faculty and learners affiliated with the University of Toronto.
3. Understand the information required by the library to effectively support a review team.
4. Recognize the educational resources and training provided on knowledge syntheses.
5. Understand services provided by hospital libraries
